VOLUME CVII.--NO. 285. ALEXANDRIA, VA., TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 27, 1906. PRICE 2 CENTS.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's pecular diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

TILLMAN TO SPEAK TONIGHT.

Threats of legal proceedings to prevent Senator Tillman from speaking tonight at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, and promises of $5,000 indemnity to the promoters if they would "call off" the lecture, have been made by a delegation of colored leaders in a dramatic interview with Mrs. Adele J. Keeler, financial agent of the Chicago Union Hospital. The colored men who called on Mrs. Keeler by appointment were Rev. A. J. Carey, of Bethel Church; Dr. Charles E. Bentley, a dentist, and Julius E. Taylor, editor of the Broadax.

Before the interview began Mrs. Keeler stoutly declared that, while the negroes "might intimidate Mayor Dunne," they "could not intimidate" her, as she is the daughter of a soldier who fought to free the slaves. In fact she proposed to meet Senator Tillman on his arrival today to act as his "body guard," with the assistance of a woman member of the hospital board.

Parson Carey began the interview. He declared there was an unusual amount of race antagonism in Chicago at present, following the recent election; said one man was in the hospital as a result of a fight growing out of the disturbed state of feeling and a lecture by Senator Tillman would only inflame the feeling.

"Senator Tillman will speak," Mrs. Keeler replied resolutely, emphasizing the "will."

Carey shook his head slowly, and said one word: "Maybe."

"What do you mean? Only death will prevent him," replied Mrs Keeler.

Bentley took upon the lines of the drama. "There are legal ways, Mrs. Keeler," he said.

"There are only three public speakers whom we want to stop," said Carey. "They are Vardaman, the Governor of Mississippi; John Temple Graves and Tillman, the archbishop of opposition to the advancement of our race, the man who would strip the colored man of all intellectual qualities and make him out a brute."

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN.

The church situation in France is becoming more sensitive daily. According to information from reliable quarters, Cardinal Richard yesterday received the Pope's definite instructions relative to December 11, when assessments will be made. There is the keenest desire to know their nature, but they have not been published. However, word has come unequivocally from Rome to some interested circles that the Pope personally is much more inclined to a pacific, liberal, and conciliatory attitude toward France than has been generally supposed, or would be judged from his encyclical, but Cardinal Merry del Val is determined to prevent him from yielding, if possible.

Word has also come, on what appears to be good authority, that American prelates have expressed to the Pope their belief that France is in a position to carry out the association law successfully, and advising against an uncompromising attitude on the part of the pontiff. It is also said that Cardinal Satolli has absorbed American ideas to the extent that he has added himself to those counseling the Pope to a conciliatory attitude.

The church and state conflict has given rise to a curious dispute between the mayor and vicar of Canourgie, department of Lozere, where the municipal council, taking advantage of the law permitting it to manage funerals as regards the part occurring outside the church, bought a hearse for the use of the people at a cost of 6 francs per funeral until the whole cost—800 francs—should be paid, when the vehicle could be used without any payment whatsoever.

The hearse, not being consecrated and not carrying a cross, the vicar refused to allow it to enter the church grounds. To this the mayor responded with an order forbidding the church hearse to enter the streets. Hence, at each funeral, the council's hearse is used to the entrance of the church, where the coffin is transferred to the church hearse, entailing an extra cost of 2 francs. After the services, the coffin is replaced in the council's hearse and taken to the cemetery.

He Rebels When Twins Come.

George Hoffman, resident of Ashley, Pa., does not agree with President Roosevelt on the race suicide question. Already the father of a large family, his wife gave birth to twins, and it angered him. He became unruly at his home and had to be locked up. When arraigned before Magistrate Donohue Friday he said:

"I cannot help repeating what I have said before, that 10 children are too much for any one man to support. It is eminently proper for men with big salaries to have large families; but I only receive $2 per day, and it is a very difficult matter to furnish means to support the little ones.

"President Roosevelt may be right in propagating the idea, but supporting a houseful of children on $10 a week is another thing. I made a mistake in getting drunk; I made a mistake in speaking unkindly to my wife, and I do not believe in race suicide; but, Alderman, when they come in bunches, what is a poor fellow going to do?"

Hoffman promised to make no further complaints, to keep sober and to resume the old kind way again, and he was discharged.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

A CABLEGRAM to the United States brings the information that the King of Belgium has, by a decree, granted to an American company for rubber and other exploitation about 2,500,0000 acres in the Kongo Free State for sixty years. The concession included a strip of over thirteen miles on the left bank of the Kongo to the Yumbi river, a strip south of Kassi to the confluence of the Kongo and Kassi rivers, and a ten-year option on 1,250,000 acres. This action by King Leopold, says Bradstreet, was regarded as a step on the part of the Kongo government intended to involve the United States in any future international complication which might arise owing to the conduct of the affairs of the Free State. Of some interest as connected with this was the statement made by the British Foreign Secretary to a deputation in London, that unless the Belgian government took steps to improve the prevailing conditions in the Kongo region, Great Britain would propose international action. With Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Hawaii and Panama on their hands, the people of the United States may well ask themselves if they have not trouble enough without going to the Kongo to find more.

THE HOME MARKET CLUB, a New England high tariff organization, held its annual dinner at Boston one night last week. Lieut. Governor Draper spoke on the prosperous condition of the industries of New England and the country. Congressman McCleary, of Minnesota, said in part:

Protection cannot properly be regarded as a selfish sectional scheme under which the strong may take what they want, while the weak must be satisfied with what they can get. Rightly understood, protection is a wisely conceived and beneficent system which gives the square deal to all. The narrow view sets the sections over against each other and tends to disunite and break up our great national family just as surely as did the political sectionalism of forty-odd years ago which led to the civil war. Rightly understood, protection is a cement holding together in mutual helpfulness and interdependence the vast areas of our beloved country with all its varied industries.

More fallacies in so few words could hardly have been uttered, and that his constituents thought so was shown at the last election when Mr. McCleary was badly defeated by his low tariff democratic opponent, though at the previous election he received over 9,000 majority.

THE $60,000 fine imposed on officials of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, accused of rebating, has been paid by the corporation. That fine was a mere bagatelle, but if a jail sentence had been imposed on the law breakers it would have had a most salutary and far-reaching effect.

SO FAR during the present football season, and in spite of the new rules, 14 young men have been killed and hundreds injured. From these statistics it would appear that the new rules are no better safeguards against killing and injuring in football games than were the old ones.

THE GOVERNMENT has ordered the unnecessary blowing of whistles in New York harbor to be stopped. The order should be extended to other harbors than New York. Indeed many people who live in harbor cities are becoming tired of the nuisance of long and unceasing whistle blowing.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

In accordance with the announcement of Secretary Taft the hearing today on the subject of the transmission of electrical power generated by the Niagara Falls from Canada to the United States was upon the basis that the necessary permits for such importation should be granted for 160,000 horsepower with particular reference to the question as to how much should be allotted to each of the companies interested. In other words the sentimental element has been eliminated from the hearings and there is now nothing but the fight between the rival corporations as to the quantity of power each may be permitted to transmit to this country.

After many months of dullness, during which the wheels of government business revolved slowly, the machinery has started again. President Roosevelt is back at his desk and messengers carrying important documents in the various departments were seen leaving the White House every few minutes. Vice-President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon arrived almost simultaneously. The appropriations committee of the House has knuckled down to work up at the Capitol. So has the joint commission of the Senate and House considering certain reforms in the postal service and the commission on revision of the general statistics. Today Public Printer Stillings is before the appropriation committee and President Roosevelt's simplified spelling is on trial for its orthographic life. The committee is not at all favorably disposed towards the new fangled angles handed our language by the President. President Roosevelt's return to his office this morning was the signal for a procession of statesmen and officeholders to bear down upon the White House. The fact that today was Cabinet day probably saved the President have from several hundred vigorous shakes for at 11 o'clock the rush of visitors was stopped and the President went into session with his ministers. Much of the time of today's Cabinet session was taken up by the President's account of his trip to Panama and Porto Rico. Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf made his report on the alleged indignities heaped on the Japanese people of San Francisco and Secretary Shaw told how the American Smelting and Refining Co., otherwise known as the "silver trust" has been trying to fatten itself at the expense of the government by boosting the price of silver needed for subsidiary coinage.

Manufacturers of canned and all kinds of prepared foods will be interested in a declaration made this morning by Representative Mann, of Chicago, to the effect that Congress at the coming session will not amend the pure food law. There will be hearing however, on two proposed amendments. One is to label the cans or packages of food stuffs to show the exact amount in pounds or liquid measure that they contain. The other is to stamp the date upon each package as it is prepared for the market. "Nothing will be done in the way of enacting amendments at this session" declared Mr. Mann. "The time is too short."

When the Bassett case was called this morning before Justice Gould, counsel for the complainant presented the depositions of boarding house keepers in Atlantic City, where Rev. Dr. Hunt, Mrs. Bassett, and the child, Chester, spent part of the summer of 1904. The testimony of Mrs. John G. Gibson stated that she let rooms to Hunt and Mrs. Bassett and that on several occasions Hunt stayed at night. Regarding the renting of rooms witness stated that upon one occasion they asked for two rooms, and when witness alluded to Mrs. Bassett as Hunt's wife, he said she was his sister. The testimony of several witnesses showed that Mr. Bassett for a long time did not know of his wife's whereabouts and that the only knowledge he had of her address was a special box in the city postoffice which was alleged to have been hired by Hunt.

Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth arrived in Washington this morning at 9:45 and were driven immediately to the White House. They will remain here during the session of Congress. For some time they have been visiting Mrs. Longworth's relatives in the East.

It was officially announced at the White House this morning that the President will send a special message to Congress shortly after the opening of the session next week dealing with the situation on the isthmus of Panama. He prepared much of the data for the message on his return voyage and expects to finish it within a week.

Charles W. Anderson, collector of Internal Revenue at New York, and Emmet J. Scott, Secretary to Booker T. Washington of Tuskeegee Institute, called at the White House this morning to intercede for the negro soldiers of the 25th Infantry recently dismissed from the service for participation in the Brownsville, Tex., disturbance. It is understood that they did not succeed in changing the President's mind on the subject and they left the White House in a somewhat discouraged state of mind.

In reprimanding Professor Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson did not follow the precedent set in other cases, by writing a censuring letter, but called the offending official to his office and verbally scored him for his wrongdoing. The incident is now a closed book at the department. Professor Moore is still observing the country's weather and making bulletins and reports on it and reports that he had contemplated resigning are emphatically denied.

Arrested on Bridal Trip.

Russell W. Tompkins, collector for the A. J. Chewning Company, a real estate concern in Richmond, was arrested in Savannah yesterday on the charge of embezzling $500 from his employers. An officer was waiting to arrest him when he landed from the steamship Alleghany from Baltimore in that city. It is said he married a young woman, whose name was given as Ethel Stewart, and she accompanied him to Savannah. Mrs. Laura T. Tompkins, the young man's mother, says the girl's name was Josephine Brockenbrough. A few days ago Russell, who is 25, told his mother he wished to aid a woman who was in Richmond and had been deserted by a drummer. He asked her co-operation in getting the girl placed with a relative until she could do better. The mother declined to have anything to do with the girl and advised him against it. Notwithstanding, he used his mother's name in getting the girl placed at a relative's house. On Thursday, according to his story at Savannah, he ran away to Baltimore and married her under a fictitious name. The aged mother is left without support, except the aid of a grown daughter, whose earnings are small. Mrs. Tompkins declares she will not shield her son from the punishment [illegible]

Harries and members of his staff had gone down the river Sunday night to welcome home the President. The launch was caught in the waves and capsized. Cleveland was swept overboard and his body was not recovered.

THE STATE ELECTION.

The State Board of Canvassers, composed of the Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney General, met in Richmond yesterday and canvassed the returns of the recent congressional election.

The democrats lost only one district, the Ninth, where Bruce was defeated by Slemp. Although Bruce came out second best in this contest, he got the largest vote of any of the ten democratic candidates. A total of 11,757 people cast their ballots for him, but Slemp, alas, got 2,041 more and hence his defeat.

Judge Saunders, who had a close shave in the Fifth district, got the second largest number of votes of all the democrats. His total in the general election was 6,194, which gives him a lead of 222 over Simmons. In the special election to fill the unexpired term caused by the resignation of Governor Swanson, Saunders got six less votes than for the regular term and Simmons two more.

Here are the totals of the returns:

RETURN OF THE PRESIDENT.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt returned at 10:42 last night from their journey to the Isthmus of Panama and Port Rico on the yacht Mayflower, a day ahead of time, thus breaking one more record on what has been from start to finish a remarkable journey.

The original programme called for the President's home-coming on the night of the 27th. When he reached Colon on the way down it was 15 hours ahead of schedule time, and the "reception" committee was still at the other end of the isthmus.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt left Washington on their isthmian journey at 4 p. m. November 8, so they have been absent just 18 days.

The President brings back with him a mass of facts and observations which he will work up into a special message to Congress.

The President and party, including Mrs. Roosevelt and maid, Surgeon General Rixey, of the navy, and Secretary M. C. Latta were transferred from the battleship Louisiana to the yacht Mayflower at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at Piney Point, where the Mayflower and the Dolphin were waiting. The Dolphin accompanied the Mayflower to Washington.

The President's trip homeward was without accident of any kind other than the breakdown of the Washington. All the party are well and experienced a pleasant voyage up from Porto Rico.

Killed by Cloudbursts.

Three people were killed and many more narrowly escaped death during a succession of cloudbursts in Cherokee county, N. C., last week.

According to the reports received there were between fifty and sixty terrific cloudbursts, one quickly following the other in the mountain, causing raging torrents which left a path of destruction and desolation. Many houses were carried away by the flood and demolished.

Mrs. R. C. Cornwell and her son were drowned. The bodies were recovered a considerable distance from their home. Her husband was severly injured, but her daughter and infant escaped with a few bruises.

At another place a house was demolished, and a woman, name unknown, was crushed to death by a falling tree.

Across the mountain four people narrowly escaped from the flood with their lives. Four houses were demolished. Water rushed down the mountain side sweeping away everything in its path, including great rocks, trees, and houses.

At Marble, an entire family was imprisoned in a house and another family narrowly escaped by fleeing from the house while it was being undermined by the water. It was carried away and destroyed.

Swept Over Niagara Falls.

An unknown man was swept over the Horseshoe falls at Niagara in a small boat yesterday afternoon after a daring attempt had been made to save him.

An employe of the Ontario Power Company first saw the little craft coming down the river in the grasp of the swift current. The occupant was standing up, frantically waving his hands. The rowboats started down the Chippewa river toward the Niagara to attempt a rescue at the mouth of the small stream.

The rescuers went far beyond what is considered the danger line, but a cross current carried the unfortunate man away from them toward Goat Island, and in a few minutes he was carried over the Horseshoe falls.

The would-be rescuers were by this time in a perilous position, and it was with great difficulty that they succeeded in reaching shore.

The Trial of Gillette.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Damaging evidence against Chester Gillette, charged with the murder of Grace Brown, was heard today when medical experts testified to various physical conditions which precluded the supposition that Grace Brown died from drowning. Dr. E. A. Douglas also declared that the girl would have been a mother had she lived. An exhibit was placed in evidence to prove this declaration. Mrs. Brown, mother of the dead girl, and her daughters left the court room while this testimony was being taken.

Counsel for the defense made vigorous objections to the placing in evidence of the exhibit of the girl's condition.

"It's spectacular," cried Lawyer Thomas, "and is done for the effect of prejudicing the minds of the jury. Your honor, if this exhibit is not shown we will consent to the admission of the girl's condition."

"I propose to try this case in my own way," said District Attorney Ward, placing his hand on the glass jar covered with paper. "I have the right to show this to the jury when I desire after it is placed in evidence. I have the right to go into this dead girl's grave and bring her body here if I desire."

Judge Devendorf allowed the exhibit to go into evidence. Dr. Douglas gave expert testimony to preclude the supposition that the girl had lost her life by drowning. Dr. Douglas's re-crossexamination was of great length.

Dr. G. W. Smith, police surgeon at Little Falls, gave further medical testimony to show that the girl had been beaten about the head before she was thrown into the water.

The death scene of Grace Brown, for whose murder Gillette is on trial, may be enacted by the defendant in the ill-fated Adirondacks skiff on the Mohawk river near here.

With the purpose of illustrating the manner of Grace Brown's death in the row boat, defendant's counsel may ask the court to adjourn to the river bank and there, in the presence of the jury, permit Gillette in the floating boat to show how the skiff was overturned while he was trying to prevent the girl from taking her life in Big Moose Lake.

Should Judge Davendorf accede to this request, Gillette will be taken to the Mohawk river heavily menaced to deputies and guarded by the local police to prevent any attempt on the prisoner's life. A suitable spot on the river has been selected for the grim death scene, and the jury with court and counsel will range along the bank. Gillette with a young lad weighing no more than the frail little girl will take positions in the boat and within a short distance from shore. Gillette will show how the tragedy occurred.

It has been the contention of the State that the row boat was practically non-capsizable, and was capable of carrying a dead weight of one thousand pounds. Judge Devendorf would hardly consent to the prisoner making the demonstration in a floating boat, as he might take the opportunity of making away with himself in the waters of the Mohawk.

In that event, a man of Gillette's size and a boy of Miss Brown's weight will be selected to play the parts in the boat and go through the movements of the tragedy under direction of Gillette stationed on the river bank. The jurymen could determine by practical experiment whether the rowboat was capsizable.

Gillette's mysterious admirer, who signs herself Marguerite, still pours her devotion to the prisoner in daily letters breathing of love and encouragement. Sheriff Richards said today that Gillette's admirer lived in Utica, but that Gillette had not told him who she was, though he thought much of her.

Statement Denied.

New York, Nov. 27.—The statement widely heralded by certain local newspapers that Stanford White was armed at the time he was killed by Harry K. Thaw, and that a pistol was taken from his pocket after the tragedy by friends, based upon an interview given out at New Britian, Conn., by Lionel Lawrence, who was manager of the "Mlle. Champagne" company, playing on the Madison Square Garden roof the night of the murder, was today branded as an absolute falsehood by the district attorney's office. Of Lawrence's story, Assistant District Attorney Gravin said: "It is a lie, pure and simple and absolutely unfounded in fact. In my interviews with Lawrence his stories were so conflicting that I discarded him as absolutely worthless as a witness for the prosecution."

Disorderly Students.

New York, Nov. 27.—As an echo of a gigantic demonstration by Columbia University students last night in favor of restoring football, the faculty is today seeking the ringleaders because the bonfire started nearly set fire to several college buildings. Proctors and professors put up a good fight to save the library when the brisk wind carried sparks from the fire in its direction. Two thousand students assembled on South Field, tore down the scaffolding about Hamilton Hall, now in course of erection, demolished fences and started a fire which burned for hours. Round this fire students danced and howled for hours. At intervals speeches were made demanding that football be restored.

President Eliot on College Sports.

Boston, Nov. 27.—Following his declaration at the Harvard dinner that rowing and tennis were the only fair sports, President Eliot in an interview last night declared that basketball and hockey were too rough, and that baseball and most forms of track athletics offered too many opportunities for cheating. Since President Eliot's power is almost autocratic a revolution in Harvard sports seems imminent if he persists in his opinion.

Colored Soldiers Denounced.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—At a meeting of international colored ministers yesterday resolutions were adopted denouncing the cowardly negro soldiers, who by refusing to confess their share in the riotous and unsoldierly conduct in Brownsville, Texas, were the direct cause of many of their innocent comrades being dishonorably discharged from the service at Fort Reno.

Bishop Potter Replies.

New York, Nov. 27.—Bishop Potter aroused by the charge of Edward M. Shepard, that he lives in "sybaritic elegance" and dwells among the millionaire money aristocrats of New York, today said:

"Mr. Shepard's remarks form a gratuitous impertinent inference without any foundation in fact." Mr. Shepard was counsel for the Rev. Dr. Crapsey, convicted of heresy, and his attack on Bishop Potter was based upon the allegation that the bishop in a veiled manner made reference to Dr. Crapsey in such a way as to influence the case. He said that the bishop intimated that Dr. Crapsey's motive was "a morbid desire to hold on to the money revenues of his place." This Shepard brands as a "false and indecent imputation." He then attacked Bishop Potter and referred to his luxurious manner of living, and said Bishop Potter was indifferent to preaching in his own diocese and was far more heretical than Dr. Crapsey. When Bishop Potter was asked if he did not think Mr. Shepard's attack demanded some further reply, he turned to his "second man," and said:

"I would ask this man to show Mr. Shepard the door should he call here."

The bishop said he would make no statement in regard to Mr. Shepard's remarks, adding:

"I can conduct the affairs of my diocese without the assistance of Mr. Shepard or the newspapers."

Among churchmen here it is freely predicted that as a result of the Crapsey verdict, a movement for greater "religious freedom" will be inaugurated next year, with Dr. Crapsey at its head. Many prominent church people are supporters of Dr. Crapsey, and some of them would like to see a church established where he could expound his liberal doctrines. It is hardly expected a church can be founded by Crapsey followers within a year, but the unfrocked rector is expected to devote himself to a literary campaign which will pave the way for erecting a church later.

Senator Tillman's Proposed Lecture.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—"You bet I'm going to speak in Chicago. That is, if the niggers don't butcher me."

Senator Ben Tillman before starting from Plattsville for Chicago today is reported to have made this characteristic "pitchfork" promise in reference to his lecture for the benefit of the Chicago Union Hospital, at Orchestra Hall, tonight. He further indicated that there was no likelihood of his converting the symbolic Hay weapon into a pitchfork for race harmony. "This talk of violence to me is all bosh. Those blacks are afraid to touch me. I know them too well to be scared by their threats." Nevertheless, preparations to guard the Senator carefully from the moment he arrives in Chicago, during his appearance on the platform and until he leaves the city are made. It is rumored at police headquarters today that six colored detectives will be sent to Orchestra Hall to mingle with the colored people who might attend the meeting.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Fearing that the visit of Senator Tillman, who is to lecture tonight in Orchestra Hall for the benefit of the Chicago Union Hospital, may be attended by disturbance and possible rioting, caused the promoters of the event to seek the co-operation of the police in protection the southern Senator during his stay in Chicago and at the lecture. The negroes went so far as to offer Miss Adele S. Keeler financial aid to her hospital and the directors a bonus of $6,000 to declare the lecture off, but without avail.

Miss Farrar's Debut.

New York, Nov. 27.—New York society capitulated last night and today is at the feet of a New York girl who eight years ago could scarcely have commanded $18 a week in a comic opera chorus. Miss Geraldine Farrar daughter of Sid Farrar, the ex-baseball player, who made her debut in grand opera at the Metropolitan last night, is the conqueror. Not in recent years has any star's triumph been so complete. Bejeweled society raved. Music lovers went into ecstasies, but packed into the crowd which, lining the great horse shoe, stood throughout the performance, was a plainly dressed man and woman who, while the crowd was shouting itself hoarse, at the end of the second act of Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," wept softly to themselves. These were Miss Farrar's mother and father.

Arrest of a Councilman.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—Common Councilman William A. Martin, of Lawrenceville, charged with conspiracy to bribe certain members of both select and common council, was arrested at his home today and brought to Central Police Station and locked up. C. S. Cameron, President of the Tube City Railroad Company, was arrested last night on the same charge with Martin. At Central Station Martin at once went into consultation with Captain of Detectives Egan, and interesting developments and disclosures are expected later in the day. Both Cameron and Martin expect to get bail today. The amount is said to have been fixed at $20,000 for each defendant.

Reception to Mayor Schmitz.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—The friends of Mayor Schmitz are preparing to give him a tremendous reception on his arrival. They have hired the Dreamland Pavilion. A great mass meeting will be held in the evening, to be addressed by Mayor Schmitz, Abe Reuf and others. 100,000 badges have been issued for the occasion. By means of the labor unions, which can impose a fine on those who do not attend, an imposing parade can be organized, and as Thursday is a holiday, the men will not lose any time from their work.

Political Death Sentence on Hearst.

New York, Nov. 27.—It is said today that the political death sentence of William R. Hearst was pronounced at a meeting held secretly last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Murphy, Connors and Cassidy, report says, have combined to corner democratic patronage. The alliance against Hearst of Hearst's allies has caused something of a political sensation, but many wise ones smile and say the end is not yet.

Deed of Jealous Man.

Rather than see the pretty girl who worked at the table beside him marry his rival, Joseph Figlia, employed by Heller & Co., clothing manufacturers in Spring street, New York, shot and killed her yesterday, and then shot and dangerously wounded the girl's fiance when he flew at him, bent on vengeance.

It was a workshop tragedy, full of love and jealousy, and ending with bloodshed. Antoinette Moccicci, just 19, had often twitted Figlia over his despairing love for her. Yesterday he could stand it no longer. With two-score men and girls, fellow-workmen in the loft on the fourth floor, looking on, he shot her down. The place was in an uproar in a moment, but as the girl's sweetheart, Vincent Lavora, made toward him and struck him on the head with a pair of shears he had snatched up from a table, Figlia turned the smoking revolver toward him and fired twice. Lavora fell at the feet of the girl he was to marry next Sunday. Figlia was later arrested.

To Claim Fortune.

"Last night I slept in the poorhouse; to-night I leave for Washington in a palace car.

James R. West, a wanderer, seventy years old, made that statement just before he boarded a train at Mansfield, Ohio, Saturday night, will took him to Washington, and wealth. Thirty-three years ago West was on the steamer Wawaset, which burned on the Potomac river with the loss of many lives. There was a newly-married couple on board, and when the fire broke out they became separated. West swam to shore with the bride. The husband was also rescued. The years passed on, West lost his money and was admitted to the poorhouse at Mansfield last summer.

The young couple raised a family and grew old. The bridegroom of thirty-three years ago died several years ago. The bride, Mrs. Jacette Cammack, died last July. She left Washington proper valued at more than $10,000, besides money to the amount of $1,500 to West, heirs endeavored to find West and [illegible] tised for him, but without avail. Officer Exonerated.

Mayor Paff last night examined the charges preferred by Messrs. C. J. Geisendaffer, G. E. Pickett and E. A. McDonald, three young men, who were arrested on King street between 2 and 3 o'clock on the morning of the 22d instant. One of the party, Mr. Geisendaffer, alleged that a pistol had accidentally dropped from his pocket and been discharged. The young men explained the matter to the police when Chief Goods ordered them to be conducted to the station house. The chief later released the party on their own recognizance to appear and explain the affair to Justice Caton. When the case was examined the young men were dismissed. The latter claiming to have been treated discourteously by Officer Roberts, who was on duty at the station house at the time the party was conducted to that place, preferred the following formal charges against that officer to the Mayor:

To the Hon. Frederick J. Paff, Mayor of the city of Alexandria, and Police Commissioners of the city of Alexandria, Virginia.

Gentlemen—We desire to call your attention to what we consider conduct unbecoming an officer, and a violation of the police regulations by the said officer in the person of J. T. Roberts. The facts and circumstances are as follows:

On Thursday, the 22d inst., about 1 a. m., Mr. Charles Guisendaffer, the agent of the Adams Express Company, this city, who has been authorized by the Judge of the Corporation Court and by the Police Justice of this city, to carry a revolver, was riding in a buggy with two of his companions when he dropped his umbrella from the buggy, and in getting out, in order to recover his umbrella, his pistol dropped from his pocket to the ground and falling upon the hammer was accidentally discharged. Mr. Guisendafter requested his friends to drive at once to find a policeman in order to report the accident. He found Officers Bell and Henderson at the corner of Pitt and King streets, and reported to them the occurrence. While he was engaged in conversation with these officers, Chief Goods arrived upon the scene and ordered that Mr. Guisendafter and all of his companions be placed under arrest and carried to the station house. As a consequence, Messrs. Charles Guisendaffer, G. E. Pickett and E. A. McDonald drove to the station house and surrendered to Officer Roberts. They explained to the officer what had occurred and offered to leave with him collateral for their appearance at court the following morning, which collateral was refused. They then asked permission to communicate by telephone or otherwise with some of their friends. This request was likewise refused, the officer being uncouth in his manner, impolite, rude and his general conduct insulting. He showed great lack of discretion and unwillingness to allow us as citizens to exercise our right to communicate either with counsel or friends, and, as a consequence, we were subjected to the embarrassment and humiliation of being required to remain in the station house until about four o'clock in the morning, when Chief Goods arrived and ordered our release.

It may be that Officer Roberts will contend that he kept us confined by order of the chief, and it may be that this will excuse him for such confinement, but his conduct, was, as indicated above, entirely uncalled for and unnecessary. We therefore, by this, charge him with conduct unbecoming an officer and ask you to investigate the same. We would be glad to attend upon your request and testify in detail.

Respectfully,

C. J. GUISENDAFFER,
G. E. PICKETT,
E. A. MCDONALD.

Mr. Geisendaffer was the first witness. He gave a detailed account of attending a dance in Fairfax county on the night of the 21st, his return and the occurrence on King street which led to the arrest of himself and companions and their experience at the station house, colloquiers with Officer Roberts, and their subsequent release by Chief Goods. Mr. Geisendaffer was cross question by Mr. Robinson Moncure, who was the accused officer's counsel.

His companions were subsequently called to the desk, but they had nothing to add to the testimony of the first witness.

Several other persons testified, including policemen, when other facts in connection with the arrest were learned.

Mr. Moncure said he was ready to submit the case without putting Officer Roberts on the stand, as all the witnesses had shown plainly that his client had not exceeded his authority in any respect, but acted strictly on the lines of duty. The complainants had endeavored, against orders under which Officer Roberts was working, to call Judge Barley and others from their beds between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and one of the party had used insulting language to Roberts. He also called attention to the fact that ordinary persons are arrested for discharging pistols in ... are locked up in cells on the ... while Messrs. Geisendaffer, ... Donald had merely been ... or until Chief Goods ... ey were released. He ... no person but the Chief ... eived collateral at the ... g men were arrested, and ... plainants had been so informed. Mr. Moncure also called Mayor Paff's attention to the book of rules governing the force to show that Officer Roberts carried them out to the letter.

Mayor Paff summed up the case in a succinct manner. He said in substance that the evidence had not sustained the charges made by the young men; that Officer Roberts was guilty of no offense; that he he had acted in a manner clearly on the lines of his duty all the way through, as the evidence of the complainants had clearly shown. He therefore exonerated the officer from the charges against him.

The investigation occupied about two hours.

The Beautiful Garden of Toys.

By the boreal pole where o'd Santa Claus lives
In his cottage of taffy and glass,
In the summer his sleigh is well packed away
And his reindeer are pastured on grass.
There the Saint reads his books and the Saint smokes his pipe
And leisurely hours he enjoys;
But of mornings he goes with his rakes and his hoes
To the beautiful Garden of Toys.

Oh, the Garden of toys is well planted with seeds
Of every plaything that's on';
Long rows of tin whistles and horns thick as thistles
And pop-guns, beginning to sprout.
The marble-plant, too, is just bringing to view
A crop of delight for the boys
As the Saint showers the lot from his watering-pot
In the beautiful Garden of Toys.

In the Garden of Toys grows a curious vine
Which bears a great crop of toy drums;
And there you may see the famous Doll-Tree
Where the dolls grow as pretty as plums;
For every dolly so smiling and jolly,
Each one in her place, seems to poise
Till Santa shall pack all the dolls in his sack
From the beautiful Garden of Toys.

In the Garden of Toys, when the autumn arrives
And playthings are ripe to the top,
When Santa Claus goes with his rake and his hoes
To harvest the wonderful crop,
He digs up the base-balls and shakes down the dolls
And thousands of men he employs
To pile jumping jacks into barrels and packs
In the beautiful Garden of Toys.

When the Garden of Toys is all covered with snow
Then the harvest is taken away;
For it's ting-a-ling, ling! and it's jing a-jing, jing!
As the treasures depart in his sleigh.
"Please, where is the Garden?" in every mail
Come the queries of small girls and boys;
But I can't let them know, for they'll all want to go
To the beautiful Garden of Toys.
